

Join the Environmental Science Center and Sustainable Burien for a FREE workshop!

YOUR SUSTAINABLE YARD: RAIN GARDENS, NATIVE PLANTS, AND MORE

Sunday, March 18, 2012, 2:00pm - 4:00pm

Burien Library- Multipurpose Room

400 SW 152nd Street ☀ Burien, WA 98166

Don't miss this opportunity to learn all about creating sustainable and rain-friendly landscaping features! This free workshop will focus on environmentally conscious yard care and rain garden design including construction techniques, plant selection, soil texture, cost considerations and maintenance. Guest speakers will include a special guest speaker from Stewardship Partners, Lori Beehner from Environmental Construction Inc., Franziska McKay from People for Puget Sound as well as Michael Stein-Ross and students from St. Francis of Assisi.

All participants will receive a FREE native plant.

To register contact:

Jennifer Dumlao at 206-248-4266 or email Outreach@EnvScienceCenter.org

The Environmental Science Center promotes environmental stewardship, sustainability, and academic achievement through science-based education. Serving South King County since 2000.

A special thanks to our generous supporters: